INTRODUCTION

The Islamic Architectural Heritage Research Group (ISArch), established in 2013, was initially under Research Management Centre, IIUM, and currently under the Regenerative Islamic Heritage Research Cluster (RU48) of the Kulliyah of Architecture and Environmental Design (KAED). ISArch was established to advocate research and dissemination of architecture with Islamic merit to the wider public with the intention of sharing and creating a forum for discourse on Islamic architecture.

OBJECTIVES

The objective of the seminar is to provide heritage studies student the exposure in public speaking and platform for KAED researcher dissemination of their findings.
